Stones From The River Ursula

Oprah Book Club® Selection, February 1997: Ursula Hegi's Stones from the River clamors for comparisons to Gunter Grass's The Tin Drum; her protagonist Trudi Montag—like the unforgettable Oskar Mazerath—is a dwarf living in Germany during the two World Wars. To its credit, Stones does not wilt from the comparison. Hegi's book has a distinctive, appealing flavor of its own.

Stones from the River by Ursula Hegi | Book Club ...

Following the story of a woman with dwarfism, Stones From the River takes place during the period just after World War I leading up to just after World War II. This woman is the protagonist Trudi Montag, who grows up in a completely normal, small German town. Trudi's mother dies when she is just four years old, so the only memories she has of her are those of hate - initially, Trudi's mother looked down on Trudi because of her physical characteristics.

Stones from the River Summary | GradeSaver

STONES FROM THE RIVER, for which author Ursula Hegi received a PEN Faulkner award nomination, is the story of an unusual child who grows to womanhood in Nazi Germany. Trudi is born in 1915 to Gertrud and Leo Montag, who own a pay-library business on the first floor of their home in Burgdorf, Germany. Gertrud dies when Trudi is but four years old, and neighbor Frau Blau steps in to help Leo raise his daughter.
